CORAM : S.U. KAMDAR, J.
DATE : 1st December, 2005.

P.C.:

. The impugned order in the present petition is for appointment of a Court Commissioner to visit and inspect the suit land as described in the plaint and to file the actual position of the suit land with a sketch map. The said order is challenged by filing the present writ petition. In my opinion, the order which has been passed for appointment of the Commissioner is purely interlocutory and procedural order. It is not possible to interfere with such a procedural order in writ jurisdiction under Article 227 of the Constitution of India and interfere with the trial at every stage before the lower Court. In that view of the matter, petition dismissed. No order as to costs.
